Mission Statement for Byron Historical Society

To affect such an understanding of the lives and times of the people of Town of Byron so that present and future generations may understand, appreciate, and learn from these Americans.

We will pursue this mission by preserving documents, photographs, artifacts, and other materials or objects that tell the distinct story of our history.

In addition, the Society will make use of its resources to educate its members and the general public concerning its heritage through publications, displays, programs, tours, films, seminars, historical markers, and other educational activities.
